

Dr. Bo Liu, PhD

Professor, Division of Vascular Surgery

Dr. Jack Bontekoe, MD

Resident, Division of Vascular Surgery

Tuesday, September 26 at Noon

Cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death in Wisconsin. UW Health and the University of Wisconsin-Madison physicians and scientists work together to deliver world class care and discover novel treatments for those suffering with cardiovascular diseases. The team of experts in vascular surgery and biology are interested in abdominal aortic aneurysms, a disease where the body's largest blood vessel, known as the aorta, weakens and becomes enlarged, which can be life threatening if untreated.

Dr. Bo Liu, PhD is a Professor of Cell Biology. Being a vascular patient herself, she devotes her life to study blood vessels and search for new drugs and devices to treat vascular diseases.

Dr. Jack Bontekoe, MD is an integrated Vascular Surgery resident at UW Health and a current research fellow in Dr. Liu's lab. After his training, Jack looks forward to a career in academic surgery and incorporating his research into his care for his patients.

Click the following links at the time of the event to watch it on the Badger Talks YouTube or Facebook channels. Can't catch the live talks? The talks will remain available on both channels for your viewing pleasure. And follow us on Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram!

Add to Outlook calendar

Badger Talks Podcast

Tune in for the latest episode as Buzz chats with experts across the university! The podcast can be accessed from the Badger Talks website, and all regular streaming platforms: Spotify, Apple Podcasts, Stitcher, Google podcasts, Amazon Podcasts, and more.

Want to hear about more FREE events? Join the Badger Talks email list.

About Badger Talks

Badger Talks are supported by a grant from the Wisconsin Foundation & Alumni Association, and donations from friends and fans like you. While a donation is not required to attend this virtual Badger Talks Live, we appreciate your consideration in making donation to support future Badger Talks programming. Your donation is tax deductible to the extent of the law.

Over 400 UW- Madison faculty and staff are available to give talks virtually and in-person around Wisconsin. If you would like to request a speaker, feel free to check out our website, where you can search for experts by topic or keyword using the search bar at the top, and submit a request.

QUESTIONS?

Feel free to connect with us at badgertalks@uwmad.wisc.edu

UW Connects

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

